Lesson 07 material: Listening: Immigrants; Grammar: Verbs, Simple Sentences, Imperatives

English Stage 1 (B1) · Unit 1: People and Places

1.4: Videos: The Contributions of Immigrants

From People and Places - An Intermediate Integrated-Skills Module for English Learners by Sara Ferguson, Grossmont College (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0). This section: CC BY-NC-SA 4.0; authored, remixed or curated by Sara Ferguson.
Original page, with audio and online exercises:
https://human.libretexts.org/Bookshelves/Languages/English_as_a_Second_Language/People_and_Places_-_An_Intermediate_Integrated-Skills_Module_for_English_Learners_(Ferguson)/01%3A_Chapter_1/1.04%3A_Section_4-
Changes: formatted for print; exercise answers are in the study guide.

Watching an Educational Video: San Francisco's Mission District

Before you watch, discuss or write about these questions...

- This video is about immigrants in the Mission District, an area in San Francisco. What do you know already about San Francisco?
- When immigrants move to a city, what benefits do they bring to that city? Think about the immigrants in your own city when you answer this question

Now, watch the video below.

Video: https://youtu.be/l2HN7P9Y7aE

Waves of immigration make San Francisco's mission district one of the city's liveliest and most colorful areas. https://youtu.be/l2HN7P9Y7aE

Main Idea and Genre Comprehension

Watch the video one time and answer the questions below.

- Choose the answer which best fills in the blank. This video is _____ (genre).
  - A commercial selling art in the Mission District
  - A romance-comedy about a couple in San Francisco
  - An educational video about the contributions of immigrants to the Mission District
  - An educational video explaining the history of San Francisco
- Who is the audience for this video? Choose all that apply and then discuss with your instructor.
  - Tourists deciding where to vacation
  - Any adult interested in CA history
  - Immigrants deciding where to move
  - Children under 12
  - Politicians trying to solve problems in the city
  - Real estate agents learning about housing prices

- What is the purpose of this video? Choose all that apply.
  - To convince people that immigrants help improve a neighborhood
  - To explain what is special about the Mission District
  - To convince people that they should move to the Mission District
  - To convince people that they should vacation in the Mission District
- What elements of the video helped you decide the answers to the questions above? Choose all that apply and then discuss with your instructor.
  - The topics
  - The images in the video
  - The narration
  - The length
- Where are the latest immigrants in the Mission District from?
- What cultural contributions do Hispanic immigrants make to the Mission District? Choose only those that were mentioned or shown in the video.
  - Art
  - Business
  - Music
  - Language
  - Religion
  - Law
  - Holidays
  - Marriage Customs
  - Food
- The video shows many pictures of Mission Dolores. What is Mission Dolores?
  - A restaurant
  - A church
  - An art exhibit
  - A music concert

Listening for Details and Vocabulary

Listen a second time and fill in the blanks.

- The Mission Dolores was built in the year _____.
- Hispanic immigrants are the latest group to come to the Mission District but, before them, _____, _____, and _____ people immigrated to the area.

Which of the following words did you hear in the video?

- Cultural (adj)

- Immigrants (n)
- Griefs (n)
- Joys (n)
- Integration (n)
- Hispanic (adj)
- Public (adj)

Use the words above to fill in the blanks.

The Mission District in San Francisco, California has many _____ from Mexico, Latin America, and Central America. People from these countries speak Spanish, so they are sometimes called _____. The people who live in the Mission District keep their _____ identity by sharing their food, religion, art, and music. The music allows them to experience their _____ and _____--that is, the things that make them sad and happy. The artists create _____ art that is outside, where everyone can see it and enjoy it. The video shows that the Mission District is a good example of _____, where the old culture and new culture mix peacefully.

Watching a News Report: El Cajon, California

Pre-Watch

Skim the photos in the article, Baghdad on the Border, and answer the question below...

- What aspects of their cultural identity have Chaldean Iraqis brought to their new home? Make a list. You may use vocabulary from the previous section, or add your own.

While You Watch

Watch the video, "Thousands of Iraqi Christians Make El Cajon California Home", and answer the questions below...

- Where is this news report published? What is the name of the website?
- What is the purpose of this news report? Choose one
    - To convince people that Chaldean immigrants help improve El Cajon
    - To explain what is special about Chaldean immigrants
    - To convince people that they should move to El Cajon
    - To convince people that they should vacation in El Cajon
- Does this video show the integration of Chaldean Iraqis in El Cajon, CA? What parts of the video help you decide the answer to this question?

Discuss or Write

These photos and videos show the many aspects of their first culture that immigrants can bring to a new home, such as art, music, food, and religion. They continue to practice these aspects of their culture. Consider your own experience. What aspects of your culture have you brought to the United States? Will you continue to practice those aspects of your culture?

Vocabulary Definitions

- Culture (n): The way of life of a group of people. Culture includes art, music, religion, language, food, tradition, and many other aspects. The adjective form is "cultural"
- Immigrant (n): A person who comes to live permanently in a foreign country
- Grief (n): A feeling of sadness or something that causes sadness
- Joy (n): A feeling of happiness or something that causes happiness
- Integration (n): When two cultures mix (blend, combine) in a society and both cultures have equal value
- Hispanic (adj): Coming from a Spanish-speaking country
- Public (adj): Relating to or open to all people in an area

Links on the original page

- Video (YouTube): https://youtu.be/l2HN7P9Y7aE

1.5: Grammar: What is a Verb?

From People and Places - An Intermediate Integrated-Skills Module for English Learners by Sara Ferguson, Grossmont College (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0). This section: CC BY-NC-SA 4.0; authored, remixed or curated by Sara Ferguson.
Original page, with audio and online exercises:
https://human.libretexts.org/Bookshelves/Languages/English_as_a_Second_Language/People_and_Places_-_An_Intermediate_Integrated-Skills_Module_for_English_Learners_(Ferguson)/01%3A_Chapter_1/1.05%3A_Section_5-
Changes: formatted for print; exercise answers are in the study guide.

This lesson is available as slides for classroom presentation.

(Online slides or activity: open the original page above.)

Why Learn About Verbs?

The verb is the core (center, foundation) for the English sentence. We cannot have a sentence without a verb. When trying to decide if a sentence is complete and correct, we usually look for the verb first.

Verbs are so important, we can even have a sentence that is only one word--the verb!

- Study!
- Eat!
- Help!

Some people say the verb is the part of the sentence that shows action. Do all of these words show action?

- Tornado
- Wave
- Windy

In fact, these words (tornado and wave) are nouns and (windy) an adjective, even though they show activity

Which of these words show action? Which are verbs?

- Show/Laugh
- Think/Understand

All of these words are verbs. Some are about activities (show and laugh) and some are not (think and understand)

What Makes a Word a Verb?

A verb shows tense (time)

- Past--flew
- Present--flies
- Future--will fly

A verb shows aspect

- Simple--flew, flies
- Continuous--is flying, was flying
- Perfect--has flown, had flown

One way to decide if a word is a verb is to look at the changes you can make to the word. Can you add -ed for past tense? Does the word change to show past tense?

Which of these words can show past tense by changing form or adding -ed?

- Tornado
- Windy
- Think
- Understand
- Show
- Laugh
- Wave
- Fly

Answers to the above question:

- Tornado (noun--no change)
- Windy (adjective--no change)
- Think (verb--thought)
- Understand (verb--understood)
- Show (verb--showed)
- Laugh (verb--laughed)
- Wave (noun--no change)
- Fly (verb--flew)

Auxiliaries

Verbs use auxiliaries to make questions and negatives and to show different voices and aspects

The auxiliaries are "be," "do," and "have," plus modals

These auxiliaries can also change tense

- Be, am, is, are, was, were
- Do, does, did
- Have, has, had

We use "do" to make questions and negatives in the simple aspect

- Simple present
  - Do you want a souvenir?
  - I do not want a souvenir
- Simple past

    - Did you visit the art museum?
    - I did not visit the art museum

We use "be" to make the continuous aspect

- Present continuous
    - She is picnicking at the park
    - Are they flying a kite?
    - No, they aren't flying a kite
- Past continuous
    - We were sunbathing at the beach

Remember, verbs in the continuous aspect always use "be." If you see -ing with "be," it's a gerund

We use "have" to make the perfect aspect

- Present perfect
    - Have you visited downtown San Diego?
    - That family has immigrated to El Cajon
- Past perfect
    - We had already seen the zoo

Now you try...

Now that you know what a verb is, try finding the verb in these sentences...

- The weather today is cool and breezy
- East County, San Diego offers activities like hiking, camping, and mountain-biking
- Last week, we went to the zoo and the park
- Immigrants contribute many cultural benefits to our community
- Julian, CA has a variety of restaurants

Answers to the above question:

- Is
- Offers
- Went
- Contribute
- Has

Links on the original page

- Slides (Google Slides): https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1eOlyWRjY3eZyPDJxtlJ-rcXMimGhVB0JjLmmD8U5Hpo/edit?usp=sharing

1.6: Grammar: Simple Sentences

From People and Places - An Intermediate Integrated-Skills Module for English Learners by Sara Ferguson, Grossmont College (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0). This section: CC BY-NC-SA 4.0; authored, remixed or curated by Sara Ferguson.
Original page, with audio and online exercises:
https://human.libretexts.org/Bookshelves/Languages/English_as_a_Second_Language/People_and_Places_-_An_Intermediate_Integrated-Skills_Module_for_English_Learners_(Ferguson)/01%3A_Chapter_1/1.06%3A_Section_6-
Changes: formatted for print; exercise answers are in the study guide.

This lesson is available as slides for classroom presentation.

(Online slides or activity: open the original page above.)

Subjects and Verbs

Label the subject and verb in each sentence...

- San Diego has warm weather
- We live in San Diego County
- The weather today seems dry
- Grossmont College is in El Cajon
- Some students at this college are immigrants

Answers to the above exercise:

- San Diego (subject), has (verb)
- We (subject), live (verb)
- The weather (subject), seems (verb)
- Grossmont College (subject), is (verb)
- Some students at this college (students), are (verb)

Simple Sentence Patterns

A group of words with a subject and a verb is called a clause; a simple sentence has one clause

Simple sentences use four patterns:

- Subject + verb (noun phrase) or (prepositional phrase)
  - EX: San Diego has warm weather
  - EX: We live in San Diego County
- Subject + linking verb + adjective
  - EX: The weather today seems dry
- Subject + "be" + noun phrase
  - EX: Some students at this college are immigrants
- Subject + "be" + prepositional phrase
  - EX: Grossmont College is in El Cajon

Predicates

The part of the sentence or clause with the verb is called the "predicate"

- San Diego has warm weather

The subject is "San Diego" and the predicate is "has warm weather"

- We live in El Cajon

The subject is "we" and the predicate is "live in El Cajon"

Verbs

Verbs can show action or non-action

- Action verbs--jump, read, talk, ask
- Stative (non-action) verbs--understand, like, be, seem

Verbs change form to show time (past, present, and future), aspect, voice, and mood

Linking Verbs

Linking verbs are different from other verbs because they may be followed by an adjective. Other verbs may not. They are not the same as stative (non-action) verbs because most stative verbs cannot be followed by an adjective. For example...

- BAD EX: He owned nice
- BAD EX: She believed wonderful

The subject in a linking verb sentence may sometimes be "there" or "it"

- EX: It seems cold today
- EX: There are 26 students in this class

Practice What You Learned

The following sentences are about people and places. Identify the subject, verb or linking verb, noun phrase, adjective, and prepositional phrase in each sentence. You may find some adverbs as well...

- Grossmont College is a community college
- It is on Grossmont College Drive in El Cajon
- El Cajon is in East County
- Most Grossmont students travel to the college by car
- El Cajon has many attractive features
- There are libraries, parks, and schools
- Approximately 100,000 people live here
- The climate is Mediterranean
- The weather is usually warm and dry
- It seems hot today

Answers to the above exercise:

- The subject is "Grossmont College," the verb or linking verb is "is," the noun phrase is "a community college"
- The subject is "it," the verb or linking verb is "is," the prepositional phrase is "on Grossmont College Drive" and "in El Cajon
- The subject is "El Cajon," the verb or linking verb is "is," the prepositional phrase is "in East County"
- The subject is "most Grossmont students," the verb or linking verb is "travel," the prepositional phrase is "to the college by car"
- The subject is "El Cajon," the verb or linking verb is "has," the noun phrase is "many attractive features:
- The subject is "there," the verb or linking verb is "are," the noun phrase is "libraries, parks, and schools"
- The subject is "approximately 100,000 people," the verb or linking verb is "live," the noun phrase is "here"
- The subject is "the climate," the verb or linking verb is "is," the adjective is "Mediterranean"
- The subject is "the weather," the verb or linking verb is "is," the adjective is "warm and dry"
- The subject is "it," the verb or linking verb is "seems"

Watch This Video

Watch this video for another explanation of simple sentences...

Homework

Write five simple sentences about a place you know well. Label the parts of each sentence

Links on the original page

- Slides (Google Slides): https://docs.google.com/presentation/d/1EaBNkOkmSxPJSXpHE4zjlQbnbuOvKa94IRLsCtHHPlI/edit?usp=sharing
- Video (YouTube): https://youtu.be/pNm5kAXX4wQ

1.7: Grammar: Imperative Mood

From People and Places - An Intermediate Integrated-Skills Module for English Learners by Sara Ferguson, Grossmont College (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0). This section: CC BY-NC-SA 4.0.
Original page, with audio and online exercises:
https://human.libretexts.org/Bookshelves/Languages/English_as_a_Second_Language/People_and_Places_-_An_Intermediate_Integrated-Skills_Module_for_English_Learners_(Ferguson)/01%3A_Chapter_1/1.7%3A_Grammar%3A_Imperative_Mood
Changes: formatted for print; exercise answers are in the study guide.

Understanding and Using the Imperative Mood

Form: Imperative Mood

Read the summary below to learn how to form the imperative mood.

The imperative mood is the base form of the verb. The subject is the implied 'you,' but the subject is not written in the sentence.

Imperative mood = base form verb + (complement)

- Example: Open the door! (Open is the base form of the verb. The door is the complement.)

Negative imperative = Do not (don't) + base form + (complement)

- Example: Don't forget your umbrella! (Forget is the base form of the verb. Your umbrella is the complement).

Meaning: Imperative Mood

The imperative mood is used to make requests, give instructions or directions, and give orders.

Request: Sit down, please.

Instructions: Read the first part of the chapter.

Orders: Leave now!

Practice Paragraph: Email Etiquette

Identify the verbs in the imperative mood in this paragraph.

How then can we write professional and clear emails? There are a few tips you can follow. First, the subject line of the email should state the reason for the email. For example, "Question About Homework" is clear and concise. This is better than saying "Help!" which is not clear. This sounds like an emergency, even though it is not. Second, do not use all capital letters. Capital letters, like "WHEN IS THE PAPER DUE?" make the reader think you are shouting, or yelling at them. This is very impolite and may make the reader upset. Instead, use correct punctuation. Check to make sure you capitalized the first letter of a sentence and all proper nouns. This shows the reader that you took the time to proofread your email. Third, be very clear about why you are writing. Do not write too much; people receive hundreds of emails a day, so they do not have time to read an essay! Be clear and concise. Finally, always say "thank you" at the end. Sometimes, we are angry and do not want to say "thank you," but showing this politeness will help you later. If you are polite and thankful, the reader is more likely to respond and to help you. Emails are an important part of communication; make sure you use them correctly so that they benefit you.

For more information about the imperative mood, watch this video.

For more practice with the Imperative Mood, use this website.

Links on the original page

- Video (YouTube): https://youtu.be/PIUW24UvQDY