Lesson 11 material: Writing a Persuasive Email

English Stage 1 (B1) · Unit 1: People and Places

2.9: Assignment: Write a Persuasive Email

From People and Places - An Intermediate Integrated-Skills Module for English Learners by Sara Ferguson, Grossmont College (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0). This section: CC BY-NC-SA 4.0; authored, remixed or curated by Sara Ferguson.
Original page, with audio and online exercises:
https://human.libretexts.org/Bookshelves/Languages/English_as_a_Second_Language/People_and_Places_-_An_Intermediate_Integrated-Skills_Module_for_English_Learners_(Ferguson)/02%3A_Chapter_2/2.9%3A_Assignment%3A_Write_a_Persuasive_Email
Changes: formatted for print; exercise answers are in the study guide.

Write a persuasive email. Choose one prompt below.

- Write an email to a friend or family member. Persuade them to visit you in a place you know well.
- Write to a friend or family member. Persuade them to move to a place you know well.

Before you Write

1. Make a list of places you know well. Choose the nicest place on your list. It can be a city, country, neighborhood or even your house!
2. Make a list of aspects your friend/family member will like about this place. It could be the sights, the activities, the weather, festivals or the culture.
3. Decide whether you will persuade your friend to visit or move to your place.

Writing Checklist

Is your genre clear? Does your email have_____?

- An email address to your friend or family member. It does not have to be a real address.
- A subject line that tell the main idea of the email. It should be short and specific.
- A friendly greeting to your friend or family member.
- A signature line with your name at the end.

Is the purpose of your email clear? It should have_____

- a clear topic. The place you are writing about should be obvious!
- A clear purpose. Are you inviting a friend for a vacation or persuading them to move?
- a positive tone.
- at least five positive descriptive adjectives. Make one of them a comparative adjective to show how much better your place is.

Is your audience for the email clear? The email should have_____

- a friendly, informal tone for your friend or family member.

Have you checked your grammar, spelling, capitalization and punctuation? Check_____

- Commas in your compound sentences and periods at the ends of sentences.
- Capitalization.
- Spelling, especially vocabulary words in this chapter
- Word order for adjective noun combinations

- Simple present tense verb form

Grade Rubric

Criteria	Description	Points Possible
Content	The email persuades the recipient to visit a place as a tourist or move there. The tone is positive, and there are enough details to sell the place.
Genre/audience/purpose	The text is an email. It has a subject line, email address, greeting, signature line, and the content is addressed to the recipient. The tone is appropriate for the recipient. The audience, purpose, and selected place (topic) are all clear.
Vocabulary	The word choice makes the place seem attractive. The word choice is varied and not repetitive. Word form is accurate. Student uses appropriate phrases from mentor texts.
Grammar and mechanics	The email uses at least five descriptive adjectives accurately. At least one of those adjectives is comparative. The grammar has been edited for accuracy.	