Bias is defined as an unfair prejudice in favor of or against an idea, person, or group. How bias is formed? According to Mahzarin Banaji and Anthony Greenwald state that bias begins during infancy. How you talk and what language do you speak can determine whether a baby favors you or not. Banaji and Greenwald state what our own identity impacts our interactions with others. Although in-group and out-group identity is learned at a young age, children who are exposed to diverse groups of people will not developed the same bias as children who interact with only people of shared identity. Everyone has bias. Bias tests can provide a stronger picture of how do people perceive others. Bias awareness'll help people take steps to reduce their biases.
